

Good views - no avalanches

Drove up the road to the summit of Sawtell Peak for some weather station maintenance (it's back up and fully operational!).

Had good views into the Centennial Mountains from the summit (Mt Jefferson, Reas Peak, head of Yale Creek) and saw no signs of avalanche activity.

The top inch of the snowpack was moist on south facing slopes at 9800 ft around noon and there was water running out of the cutbank onto the road. A few roller balls were visible, but didn't see any other wet loose activity.
